 - i. Pilot Course Revision: CRT 100.6 Critical Thinking for ESL 95

FROM:	TO:
Course Description: This course combines CRT 100 with ESL 95. CRT 100 is designed to develop the mind and help sharpen students' ability to think clearly, logically, thoroughly, critically, and effectively. Through substantive readings, structured writing assignments and ongoing discussions, students will learn to use analytical skills in reading, writing, oral presentations, researching, and listening. Students will examine concrete examples from their own experience and readings and contemporary issues in the media to learn how to analyze issues, solve problems, and make informed decisions in their academic, professional, and personal lives. v. Pilot Course Revision: LIN 150.5 Language, Race, and Ethnicity in the US and its Territories Corequisite for Reading Proficiency

FROM:	TO:
Course Description: This course combines Language, Race, and Ethnicity in the US and Its Territories (LIN 150) and Academic and Critical Reading. As a LIN 150 course, students in this class will explore historical, cultural, and theoretical perspectives on the relationship between language, race, and ethnicity in the United States and its territories. This course examines how language is understood to reflect, reproduce, and/or challenge and defy racial and ethnic boundaries, and how ideas about race and ethnicity influence the ways in which people use and construe language. It covers topics such as racialization and racism, ethnicization, notions of authenticity, repertoire, codeswitching and style shifting, linguistic mocking and linguistic racism, language ideology, and identity formation. This course will examine language varieties such as Black American English and its cross-racial uses by other groups, Chicano English and Spanglish, Asian American English, Hawaiian English, and American Indian English. As an ACR 95 course, this advanced level reading class is designed to help students master and apply a full range of college level reading, and related skills, including critical comprehension, vocabulary, writing, flexible rates of reading,	Course Description: This course combines Language, Race, and Ethnicity in the US and Its Territories (LIN 150) and Academic and Critical Reading and Writing.
